Upper Level Writing Requirement - Pence Law Library Submission for Publication
The policy statement governing the administration of this requirement provides that, "if the faculty supervisor gives a paper a grade of "A" and, further, believes it is of high excellence and makes a substantial contribution which will be of value to others in the same field, the faculty member shall submit a copy of the paper for deposit in the WCL library." Depositing a copy of the paper in the library means that the paper will be uploaded to Digital Commons, the law school's digital open access institutional repository, or any successor institutional repository. The law library no longer binds or collects physical copies of ULWR papers.
Faculty Sponsor Signature If you, the faculty member, wish to so certify, please sign here:	Student Signature If you the student, allow and approve the law school to deposit a copy of your paper in the library, please sign here: (The student must sign here in order for the Law Library to legally deposit a copy of your written work in the law library. Without this signature, the Law Library will be unable to deposit your paper.)
If you would like your paper to be deposited in the institutional repository, you must send a PDF version of your paper, along with a separate copy of this completed and signed ULWR form, to ULWR@wcl.american.edu. The WCL Office of the Registrar does not collect ULWR papers.
